

KYRON

KITCHENS · INTERIORS · PANELS

Concept 01 - The Join

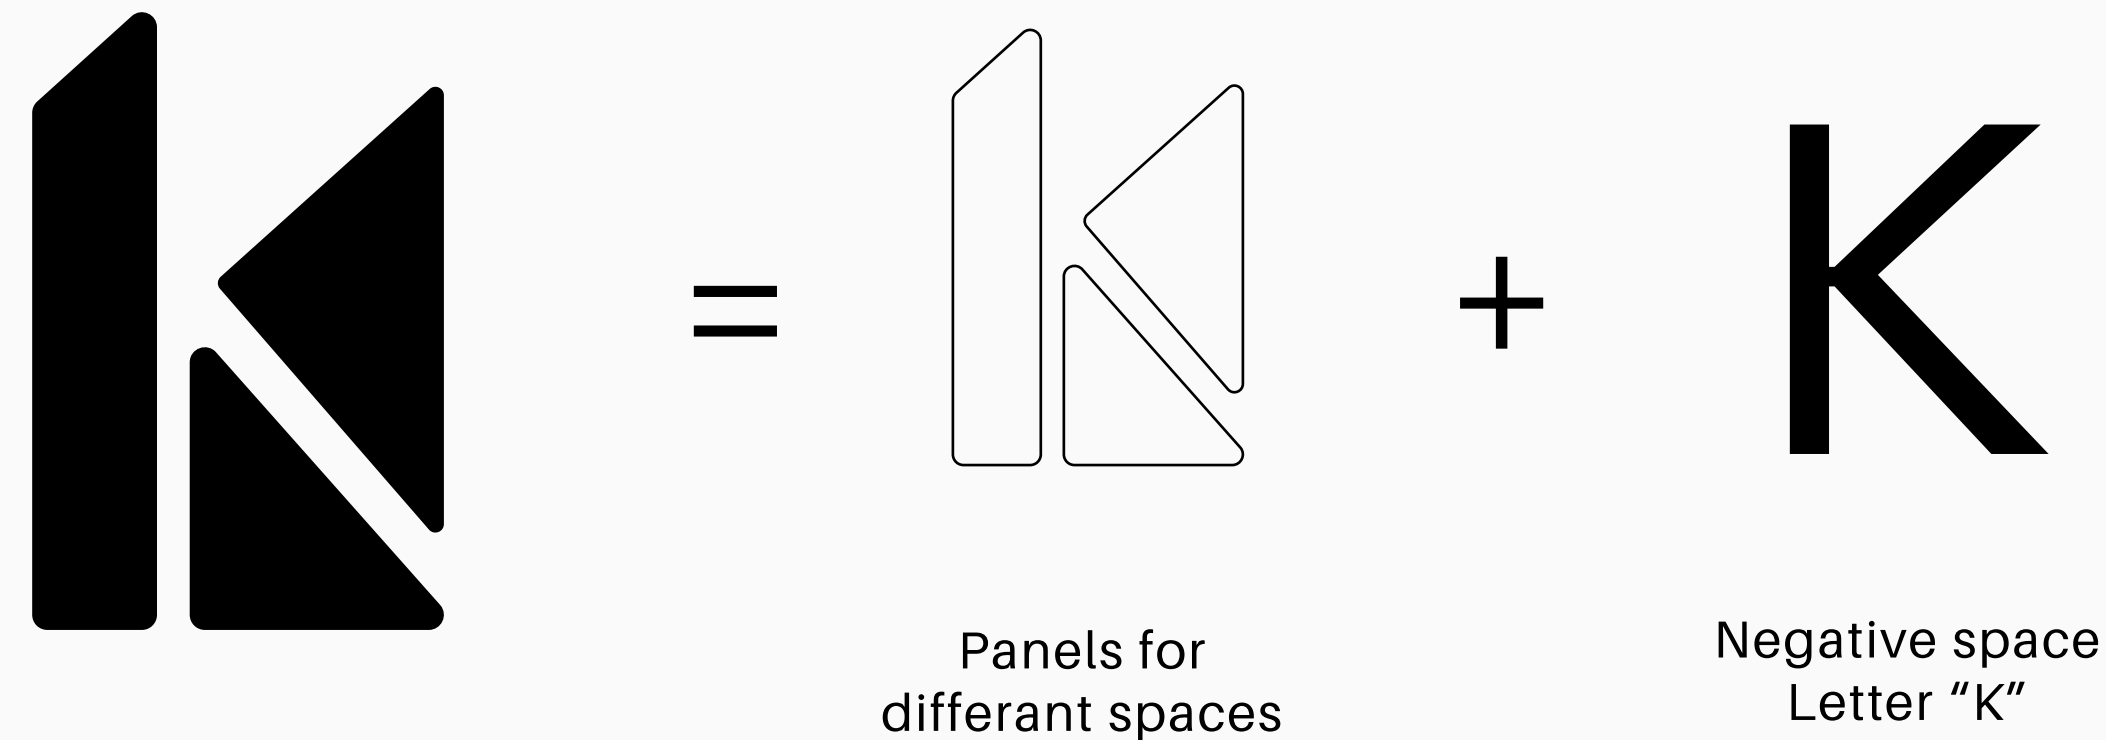

- KYRON works with panels, but the identity is not based on the shape of a single panel.
- It is based on what happens when panels come together.
- That gap becomes the K, making the brand initial a result of the construction
- This is closely related to the way interiors are built: individual surfaces are measured, aligned and joined until they read as one complete system

The mark represents the point where material, precision and assembly come together.
TWO PANELS. ONE JOIN. ONE K.

Concept 02 - Built from Space

- The idea behind the concept was that an interior is defined by its planes, not its objects.
- A wall establishes the vertical plane, while the ceiling and floor establish the upper and lower boundaries of a space.
- These three directions are reduced into a single architectural form, which also creates the K of KYRON.
- KYRON helps create - not just kitchens or panels as individual products, but the surfaces that shape the entire interior..
